The Fees of Court Clerks

A junior clerk and cantor writes to his superior
wh. was confined to his house by illness

See Med. Soc. II, p. 230 and 572, n. 10

The letter was written in the last week of Adar, see last line to Eli ha-Me'ulle
b. Aharaim, who wrote a ma'amad for the New moon's day ^{of Nisan} when the writer wanted to perform on the forthcoming Sabbath.

Fees varied widely acc. to circumstances.
Interesting to find out who fixed them.
