

N 5 2 III

1059

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Hebrew, on a dark, irregularly shaped fragment of parchment or paper. The text is arranged in several lines across the fragment, with some characters appearing to be in a different script or dialect. The fragment has a large hole in the center and is heavily stained and worn.

Handwriting of Nahay B. M. ...

See v. 1059

Handwritten initials or mark.

Univ. Lib. Cam. T-6 N-5. J. III

I

100