The story:

דוד אבי took a loan of 545 din from the partner, his house, or rather the share he had in the business security. Therefore his wife must agree well.

Normally the value of a collateral is higher than that of a loan, but even if equal it would be $12 \times 55 = 660$, which is more for the wife as an expensive security.

Since no condition of repayment, probably whole sum in one
